Cataract Can Be Cured.

Cataract can never be cured by ointments and other local applications, but there is one remedy that can permanently remove the cause. It has cured cases where the discharge was so copious and offensive that it felt as if the whole head was a mass of corruption. Other cases indicated by an irresistible desire to hawk and spit the phlegm collecting in a tough mass behind the soft palate. In other cases where the matter dried up in such large lumps as to fairly close up the nostrils and prevent nasal respiration. In other cases where the breath was so offensively revolting and fetid that the person became a disgusting object in society. Other cases wherein complaint was made of a distressing feeling above and between the eyes, and where the sense of smell was entirely lost. Other cases where the droppings fell into the throat and the voice became husky, and caused a troublesome cough. Oh! you want to know the name of the medicine? It is called Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla. It can be bought of any druggist.

ONE photographer invited another photographer to lunch with him, but neglected to order any thing to drink, until his friend asked him if he worked the "dry plate" altogether. --Texas Siftings.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

FROM the Herald of Faith, St. Louis, Missouri, August 10, 1887:

Referring to Shallenberger's Antidote for Malaria, the business manager of the Herald of Faith would say, that he gave this medicine a personal trial, and was speedily cured of an unpleasant intermittent fever. He then recommended it to F. J. Pfeiffer, 1915 Papin street, and to police officer Meidinger, at the Union Depot, both of whom were cured by it of chills and fever of several years' standing. Recently his wife, after a fever of several days' duration, took a single dose and was perfectly cured. In view of these remarkable cures, and remembering how much money is spent for quinine, so little to be depended upon, and often so injurious, we can only wish that Shallenberger's Antidote would come into general use.

Not a Local Disease

Because catarrh affects your head, it is not therefore a local disease. If it did not exist in your blood, it could not manifest itself in your nose. The blood now in your brain is before you finish reading this article, back in your heart again and soon distributed to your liver, stomach, kidneys, and so on. Whatever impurities the blood does not carry away, cause what we call diseases. Therefore when you have catarrh of the head, a snuff or other irritant can at most give only temporary relief. The only way to effect a cure is to attack the disease in the blood, by taking a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which eliminates all impurities and thus permanently cures catarrh. The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh is vouched for by many people it has cured.
